Pretend you are sending a postcard from the country you are visiting. Draw a picture or glue pictures from the Internet or a magazine on the blank side. Write about your adventures on the message area. Fold the postcard and place it in a pocket on your lapbook or notebook page.

You've got mail!

Glue this pocket down only on the non-folding flaps where it says “glue here”. Cut out the “You’ve got mail!” rectangle and paste it onto the front of the pocket. When the glue is dry, you can put your postcard inside.
